Bumper start to the year for Bournefree

WE have made a really positive start to 2023 here at Bournefree — and let's hope this continues for everyone in the year ahead.

By Peter Lindsey

Our team has been working hard this month on a Food and Drink special inside this edition focusing on the very best restaurants, cafes and eateries around.

It has proved incredibly popular so we thank all the businesses which have taken part.

I particularly enjoyed interviewing some of the owners, including Marina and Amy at the new Journeys in Station Parade.

Kadir — who owns the amazing Dem Shish in South Street — is a legend too, and we welcome each and every one of those promoting themselves through our editions, both online and in print. It is also fantastic to welcome The Grand Hotel to Bournefree for the first time.

We continue to grow our Reach — both in print and online.

We are seriously looking at whether we should increase how many copies we print because the magazine has become so popular.

10,000 is the current magical figure but the cost of newsprint has risen by 60 per cent in the past 12 months, so we have to be realistic and cautious that more copies means a rise in costs. We will see.

Our online reach continues to be very important to us.

As I write this on Tuesday, January 17th, our Facebook page alone has reached a staggering 54,000 people in the past 28 days. If you don't interact with us on Facebook, please feel free to do so.

Our website carries a minimum of six news stories each day, seven days a week. Please visit:

www.bournefreelive.co.uk

Around 60,000 people visit our website each month, and we are naturally looking to increase that figure as we move forward.

Bounefree is currently looking to help organise, support and promote a number of events this year.

We are partnering with key people in the town to make these events happen — and indeed successful.

Times may be tough but there is much to be positive about, and let's hope for a safe and happy 2023.

Bournefree

Bournefree is becoming more and more popular each month, and we want to make it easier for you to promote your business or organisation.

Gail and Harry are here to help you with your marketing and to raise awareness of what you do.

Dad's marathon run in memory of 'my beautiful little angel'

A PROUD Hailsham fitness dad is running this year's Brighton Marathon in memory of his young daughter who tragically died in her sleep last October aged just three.

By Peter Lindsey

Luna-Rose Vince was born in 2019 with a rare genetic condition.

She had Global Development Delay, which meant she was immobile, non-verbal and had frequent epilepsy seizures.

She needed 24/7 care, but mum Sam Poulton says she was 'the most beautiful little angel.'

Now Matt Vince, 31, a construction worker who goes to FFH Gym in Station Road, Hailsham, has decided to run a Marathon for the first time.

He wants to raise £15,000 for Aquamovers — a group providing expert therapy and socialising for severely disabled children between the age of 1 and 5 years old, at Chailey Heritage Foundation in Mid Sussex.

The group provided valuable support for the family and Sam said it was a life-changer for her.

A staggering £5,000 was donated to Matt's JustGiving fundraising page in just 12 hours, and the current amount is £10,295.

Matt said: "The most I had ever done when I committed to running the Brighton Marathon back in December was just four miles.

Negative to positive

"I am taking part with two old school friends of mine, Hugo Porpora and Leon Collen. I hate running but I will crawl if I must just to get over the finishing line.

"My brother Joel said he would also run the Marathon if our fundraising target hit £10,000, which we have, so he will be running with us!

"I am determined to turn a big, big negative into a positive. Luna-Rose wouldn't want us to be just moping around."

Aquamovers

Mum Sam, 33, a dental nurse, said Luna-Rose had been given 'a real bad hand' in life but she was happy. Sam said: "She loved life and she smiled all the time. We never thought her condition was life-threatening at such an early stage in her life, so when she died, we were obviously in total shock.

"I had given up work to care for her and I struggled. I felt very lonely and didn't know anyone in a similar circumstance.

"Then I heard about Aquamovers, and it made a complete difference to our family.

"Going there helped me accept what had happened, that we had a child who was severely disabled."

Matt is now looking forward to the Marathon on Sunday April 2nd, and is urging people to donate to Aquamovers.

Foodbank: "We love celebrating with our clients
when they no longer need to use a foodbank"

VISITING a foodbank is a last resort and Eastbourne Foodbank aims to provide shortterm support to people in financial crisis to reduce the need for foodbanks.

By Juliet Mead

The charity is here to provide a warm welcome for people who cannot put food on the table. The team will help people from all backgrounds without judgement and aims to do so with compassion and dignity.

Finding solutions to encourage short-term food parcels

In addition to food parcels, the foodbank provides welfare benefits advice and debt advice. The foodbank aims to help boost incomes and find a solution to the client's financial crisis so they are able to afford the essentials and no longer need food parcels.

Debbie Canning, advocacy manager at Eastbourne Foodbank, said: "No one wants to have to use a foodbank and we hope to help people reach a place where they don't need to visit us.

"Our welfare benefits advisors and debt advisors want to help, and will speak to clients about their income and expenditure. We refer to this process as income maximisation and it is part of our work to reduce poverty in our community.

"We want to help people out of their crisis and lift them up and out of poverty by putting more money in their pocket — and into the local economy. We love celebrating with our clients when they no longer need to visit us.

"Thanks to our generous donors, we are able to provide essential food and toiletries for the duration of the crisis but we hope this will be a short-term arrangement for the majority of our clients."

Foodbanks are the last resort

We understand we are living in very challenging times and our doors are open to anyone who cannot afford or access food. However, all the food and toiletries you see at Eastbourne Foodbank are donated by the public and the number of people visiting us is increasing at an alarming rate. We therefore ask people to explore other options if they possibly can, to help the foodbank and the wider community.

Systemic long-term change is needed

In the longer term, our campaigns team is working to encourage changes in government policy.

Eastbourne Foodbank holds hope that the situation can and will change for people living in poverty and one day, large—scale foodbanks across the UK will be able to close their doors. Eastbourne Foodbank's campaigns team aims to give foodbank clients a voice and calls on local and national decision-makers to implement sustainable measures which protect those on the lowest incomes from falling in to destitution and having no choice but to turn to a foodbank.

Are you suffering with Eye Strain?

MANY of us will experience eye strain at some point in our lives.

By Gail McKay

Symptoms can include headaches, dry scratchy eyes and even eye pain.

If think you're suffering with eye strain, it's important to get your eyes tested so that any other health issues can be ruled out.

Eye strain becomes more common as we age and it's likely that your optometrist will give you a prescription for a pair of glasses that can help. If you spend a long time working at your computer then Arron Tun, Bott's Optometrist, advises you to use the 20/20/20 rule to avoid digital eye strain.

- Take a 20 second break.
- Every 20 minutes.
- Look at something 20 feet away.

From a good travel agent

WHEN I look back on last year and the difficulty of getting through to companies, it reminds me of the 'Terminator' series of films featuring Arnold Schwarzenegger and the one called "Rise of the Machines" when in the future, the machines take over from the humans.

By Martin Wellings, PST

It seems to me that the future is already here, as in 2022 there has been an acceleration of the process of most large companies just relying on the internet and making it increasingly difficult to speak to any humans.

Not only is it hard to contact companies on the phone these days, often it is even harder, if not impossible, to find a number to call. Even if you do manage to find a number and call it, you will usually be told how important your call is to them and that they are "unusually busy" at the moment, and all the time and during your lengthy wait will be told by a robot that it would be better if you went on to their website!

The human touch

Whilst a simple cheap ticket to somewhere like Spain is an easy enough transaction, it does surprise me the number of people who will go on line to book a long haul flight with an unknown website to make their booking, so they risk their money, will often have problems if they need to make any changes: all this because they believe is the cheapest option which is usually not the case. I am pleased to say that we only employ humans.

Better than usual

It was reported that there was continuing strike action with Border Staff which was delaying arrivals, but apparently since the military were helping out, going through immigration was actually better than usual: Here's hoping that strikers remain out for longer!

Passport expiry

When does your passport expire? A simple question but a complicated answer. You need six months validity after your intended return date (three in the EU) and even if your current passport shows a validity of over ten years, many countries only recognise validity as ten years from the date of issue, irrespective of what your passport shows. It's good that everyone likes to keep things simple!

Free advice

I wish you a good holiday whatever and with so many different choice available now, choosing may be one of the hardest decisions so as usual, take advantage of free advice from a good travel agent.

Ginger & Sanders advise Tips for Landlords

CARBON Monoxide Detectors - Autumn 2022

By Daniel Crick, Partner/Sales Director, G&S

Following parliamentary approval both social and private rented sector (PRS) landlords are legally required to repair or replace smoke and carbon monoxide alarms once they have been informed that they are faulty.

Although testing throughout the duration of a tenancy will remain the resident's responsibility.

Carbon monoxide alarm

All landlords are now obliged to ensure a carbon monoxide alarm is installed in any room of their homes where there is a fixed combustion appliance (including a gas boiler). Where a new fixed combustion appliance is installed a carbon monoxide alarm is required to be installed by law. Gas cooker appliances are excluded from the new rules

The key changes are:

• Smoke alarms are mandatory in all social rented homes.

- Carbon monoxide alarms are mandatory in rooms with a fixed combustion appliance (excluding gas cookers) in both private and social rented homes.
- Carbon monoxide alarms are also mandatory upon installation of any heating appliance (excluding gas cookers) in all tenures through building regulations.
- Landlords are expected to repair or replace alarms once informed that they are faulty.

Can you support Chaseley Residents' Well-Being? Drop a blue token Chaseley have been succe with the Tesco Community.

DID you know that the Well-Being and Activities programme at The Chaseley Trust costs just over £100k per year and is completely unfunded?

By Jodie Cornford

Chaseley's person-centred ethos focuses on individuals regaining as much independence as possible, ensuring that their psychological well-being and emotional balance is maintained.

The programme encourages participation, helps reduce social isolation, whilst maintaining emotional well-being. The residents are at high risk of falling into depression as their conditions deteriorate, so it is vitally important to their health & well-being that they experience a full & active in-house social & recreational programme.

Social heart

The Well-Being & Activities Programme is the social heart of the charity & is run with enthusiasm & passion by their dedicated team; offering an array of daily activities which include music therapy, cooking, arts & craft, woodwork, gardening, quizzes, arm chair travel, relaxation groups & excursions to local places of interest.

Chaseley have been successful with the Tesco Community Grants Scheme and will be part of their customer blue token voting scheme in all local stores between midlanuary and the end of March, enabling them the opportunity to receive a grant of either £500, £1,000 or £1,500. So if you are out shopping in any local Tesco stores, please do drop a blue token in their box and support their Well-Being & Activity programme.

For further information on the charity please contact Jodie Cornford, Fundraising & Marketing Manager on 01323 744200 or jodiec@chaseleytrust.org

The main source of Chaseley's funding comes from residents' fees, which cover the cost of their care package and contributes to the daily running costs of the home.

Various commissioning bodies fund the majority of resident care packages and they have just 5% surplus to fund all their additional costs, including the upkeep of their beautiful building, upgrading their equipment, and to provide the extra social and recreational activities and services that enhance the comfort and well-being of their residents, which is why they rely on donations and fundraising.

Chaseley is an independent charityowned care home located in a stunning location on Eastbourne's seafront. It is a 55-bed home that specialises in long-term nursing and respite care for people with complex disabilities, such as Acquired and Traumatic Brain Injury, stroke, spinal cord injury and degenerative neurological conditions such as Multiple Sclerosis, Motor Neurone and Parkinson's disease.

Their multi-disciplinary approach to care and rehabilitation includes physiotherapy, occupational therapy and recreational activities, ensuring their person-centred approach is focused on individuals regaining as much independence as possible, so that their psychological wellbeing and emotional balance are maintained. In addition to this their facilities included an on-site, fully accessible gym specifically designed for people who are disabled and living in the community.

If you feel that you could support Chaseley by making them your Charity of the Year or potentially host an event on their behalf, please contact Jodie on 01323 744200 or fundraising@chaseleytrust.org

Defiant Sports Breaking Boundaries

Defiant Sports have been pursuing Fort Fun with the Borough Council for a very long time but they have finally secured a chunk of the venue!

Loretta Lock told us "It's been a long time coming, but we've finally secured Fort Fun!"

Back in December 2021, Defiant Sports began their Fort Fun bid with the local Council - a long process that has evidently paid off! It was difficult keeping the news a secret when asked by their fantastic players and families, but they can now officially let everyone know.

"We have secured a chunk of the venue on the southern side for at least 5 years. If you know where the water slide area used to be, that's the general area we've been given."

The area is about four times bigger than the space they have in the Sovereign Harbour Retail Park and the Defiant team have some great ideas about how to use the extra space. For example; A sensory room and garden; An indoor multi sports court; Offices made from shipping containers; to name just a

If you're thinking "Does this mean Defiant Sports is temporarily shutting down", Loretta Lock was pleased to tell us that their doors in the Harbour will stay open, just as before, for the time being.

"Our aim is to begin offering services from the new venue around March 2023, but keep your eyes peeled on our usual channels to stay up to date".

With the new venue on such a busy part of the seafront, Defiant will be offering corporate advertising space looking onto this high footfall area. So, if you are interested in advertising, please get in contact. Loretta also asked us "If you know anyone who will be able to help with construction, scrap removal. carpentry, plumbing, and electrical work, please do get in touch as we're going to need all the help we can get. We hope you're all as excited about this as we are, and we look forward to seeing you in the new venue soon!'

Food fit for Royalty

KINGS Restaurant at East Sussex College
Eastbourne is where quality and value combine for a first-class dining experience.

By Peter Lindsey

An exciting hybrid of student training and a real working restaurant combine to offer a unique dining experience at Kings Restaurant in Eastbourne. Located in the Kings Building of East Sussex College, the restaurant is open to the public during the daytime and evenings for selected themed special events (term-time only).

What makes it so special?

A five-star dining experience (as per Tripadvisor) awaits, with a specially crafted menu, focusing on quality locally sourced produce where possible. Students are trained under the watchful eye of tutors in class and then run the kitchen/front of house under the supervision of restaurant managers Oliver Zecchin and Laura Da Silva-Henriques.

Kings prides itself on being a valuable asset to the community. Oliver and the team work with local employers to provide students the very best start to their careers in Hospitality and Catering. Links include the likes of The Grand Hotel Eastbourne, The View Hotel, and Rathfinny Wine Estate.

The Kings Restaurant team invites you to be their guest for a bistro-style lunch experience on Wednesdays, a fine-dining experience on Thursdays, and Afternoon Teas on Fridays.

Kings Coffee Shop is also open to the public on weekdays except Tuesdays (8.30am—12pm), where a coffee and bacon roll will set you back just £3.50. If it's on your commute to work, be sure to give them a try. And if you're not en route, it's worth a detour!

A la carte

The Wednesday bistro service offers an à la carte offering with three starters, three mains and three puddings available. These are all priced accordingly.

On Thursdays, Kings offers a table d'hôte menu with two courses at £15 and three courses at £17. Tea and coffee is inclusive on both days.

On Fridays, guests can enjoy an afternoon tea at 1pm for £12.50 and this is excellent value with a full round of sandwiches, plain and fruit scones with jam and clotted cream, sweet and savoury treats with endless tea

Various themed events take place throughout the term and can be found on their web page.

Attention to detail

A focus on quality and fine attention to detail in the preparation and presentation of fine dishes makes Kings stand out from the crowd. As a training restaurant, diners also benefit from wallet-friendly prices. You will find it hard to find equal value and quality elsewhere.

Mighty Babosh

THERE is a real buzz around Turkish food right now.

By Gail McKay

Restaurants are the heart of Turkish culture, their commitment to expertly cooked meats and exceptional hospitality is evident at Babosh.

Gastro capital

Ibrahim Sayar, the owner is from Gaziantep, the gastro capital of Turkey. He brought his family to Eastbourne to set up and cook in the restaurant. They have been running restaurants and cooking for generations, it's truly in their blood. They prepare food with pure passion and have an instinctive, understanding of meat.

The décor at Babosh is a nod to the glamour and opulence of Turkish dining in Gaziantep, where restaurants are a luxurious experience.

To work in a Turkish kitchen, an innate understanding of cooking lamb, beef, and chicken is required. At Babosh all the meat is carefully selected in London and perfectly prepared at the restaurant. The care taken with ingredients is obvious.

Dolma spices

Starters are the traditional humous, salads and cheese, but you have to experience the stuffed vine leaves. These labour intensive morsels are not to be missed. Sauteed onions, blackcurrants, pine nuts and dolma spices, are wrapped in preserved vine leaves.

Kunefe

The chef... treated me to a Kunefe, a sweet cheese pastry made with Kadayif. A pancake-like batter is spun in to vermicelli like strings, grilled, and rolled in to a flat cake. With the addition of butter, honey and syrup, it is turned, topped with crushed pistachios and served with ice cream or cream. It is complete heaven and I have never tasted anything like it.

Regulars make a beeline for the grilled meat that's cooked so exquisitely on the mangal, a charcoal BBQ grill. The mix of deeply satisfying juicy meat and sauces, mouth watering spicy sides, fresh salads, and rich desserts have locals flocking to experience the sensuous delights.

Authentic

Mediha, a local Turkish cook who introduced me to Babosh is excited about having such an authentic Turkish restaurant in her neighbourhood.

She is currently making her way through the entire menu, so what's her favourite? "I have loved everything so far. But if pushed, the Lamb Beyti Sarma is really special. It's minced lamb rolled in soft fresh flat bread and with a rich tomatoe sauce and yoghurt and served with rice and salad. The food here is completely authentic, they haven't adapted it to an English palate, it tastes exactly as you would get it in Gaziantep."

Mediha also recommends the Octopus cooked in a Guvec, Albanian Liver and Sucuk, a popular Turkish Sausage.

They are open 7 days, and have different nights for different moods.

Cocktails are part of the weekend, they have a great selection of classic Cocktails and Mocktails.

There will be a belly dancer, DI and live music regularly soon.

There's something delicious for everyone here, It's family friendly too with a great kid's menu.

Perfect Pinsa and Gourmet Gelato

GIANNI'S is an award winning Italian Restaurant and Gelateria on the newly renamed Victoria Place. (Still also referred to as Terminus Road).

By Gail McKay

This isn't your average Italian Restaurant. They are the ONLY place in the whole of the UK with certification to serve ORIGINAL PINSA ROMANA.

But this is not the only thing that makes Gianni's stand out from the crowd. Another highly commended speciality of Gianni's is their award winning Homemade Organic Gelato.

Pinsa Romana

This special pizza is based on a 2000 year-old recipe. The modern version is now made with rice, soya, and whey flour. The complex and very precise process results in a light and airier, cloud-like dough — crispy on the outside and soft on the inside. Made with 80% water, very little salt, and a sourdough starter, pinsa is easily digestible and lower in calories compared to a standard pizza. Once you try it, you won't go back to a regular pizza.

Famous Gelato

Gianni's are also very well known for their Artisan Organic Gelato. They are a part of the Ice Cream Alliance and hold full accreditation from Guild of Fine Food.

Aleksandra, one of the owners and front of house, enthuses, "Ice cream is a huge draw for us, it sells well all year round but especially in the summer. We make it here, all from scratch with organic milk from local farm, Hook & Son. There isn't anything else like it on offer locally." Aleksandra and her husband Gianni — the Chef, are totally committed to high quality, honest food. Quite often Gianni will travel to Italy to do new courses, learn new techniques etc — he never stops his development.

"Italians are simply obsessed with food and being married to one taught me that food is all they talk about and it's important for us to share that with our customers, to let them know how committed we are to high quality ingredients.

Lazio style

The restaurant serves all the Italian classics, with the requisite Italian simplicity. Gianni is from the Lazio region, and his food reflects this in his style of cooking. The couple have been running restaurants in Eastbourne for a few years now, and they love to think that Gianni's Restaurant have what it takes to become your new favourite.

Beautiful atmosphere

Relaxed, and welcoming atmosphere, knowledgeable and friendly staff, carefully selected wine list and a very Italian décor. The walls are filled with beautiful photos of their trips back to Italy and some funky classic Italian posters. Gianni's is a perfect place for an intimate evening meal, a genial family gathering or any other occasion.

Whether you are after a casual morning coffee, ice-cream, or a full-on slap-up feast, you will find welcoming staff and a terrific Italian experience.

Why Dem Shish is such an amazing place to eat and drink

DEM Shish is extremely popular — and owner Kadir Akan says the recipe is very simple.

By Peter Lindsey

First, his talented and dedicated staff

"All our staff love their job, and they love Dem Shish. The customer always comes first and everyone is guaranteed a warm and friendly welcome. Customer service is allimportant to us, which is why our staff are so well trained. They are happy to work here."

Second, the atmosphere

The restaurant has seating for a maximum 130 people.

"We want everyone to have an experience they will never forget and also tell their friends and family about. We have live music every day, DJs at weekends, and the decor is fresh and lively."

Next, the chefs

"The food is the very best and I employ the very best chefs. Everything is fresh, made on the premises and the taste is spot on every time."

Special occasions?

"We have both Valentine's Day and Mother's Day coming up, in February and March. Our advice is always to book in advance."

Dem Shish offers a 20 per cent discount Monday to Wednesday inclusive, while its Bottomless Brunches are also very popular.

THIS just shows how kind and genuine Dem Shish owner Kadir Akan really is. "We wanted to do something nice

He organised a free event on Christmas Day to bring people together who would otherwise be alone. Dem Shish served free Christmas dinners and drinks to almost 50 people, working with charities including Age Concern.

All staff worked for free on Christmas Day along with musician Robbie Silver.

Mr Akan said: "Christmas Day is a day where loved ones join to celebrate and create ever-lasting memories. Unfortunately, this is not the case for all. There is a population that does not have the luxury of family or friends, and they are on our doorstep.

"There were a lot of happy people. That was our main purpose, to make them happy. We tried to do something different. 'We wanted to do something nice for the elderly people who were going to be alone.

"The Eastbourne community has helped us a lot. They have made us successful, and we tried to do something nice for our community in some way.

"They were so happy. It gave us strength for the future. It has given us motivation."

Dem Shish is planning to host the event again next year and Mr Akan said he hopes other restaurants may do something similar.

Welcome to Chi

VENDORS jostling passers-by in noisy passages, cooks a-cooking with lightning speed at stovetops in close quarters, and the scented fog of different dishes blending to inebriate the ravenous crowds. There's an undeniable thrill to street food.

By Chris Thompson and Charlie Holland

Chi Restaurant was born in this setting. Just three years ago they were a fledgling Pan-Asian street food outlet, but, with the ferocious pace common in the culinary world, they have already opened the doors to a seated experience in The Beacon Centre.

Out the pan, through the pass, and onto your palate with the same open kitchen dynamism as their curb-side roots, the restaurant maintains a lively energy whilst refining the street-side experience into a buzzy dining establishment.

It's easy to see Chi really want to have fun with a classic concept of a restaurant.

Crowd favourites

From crowd favourites like the classic Katsu curry, to the radical fusion of Korean beef short rib, avocado and garnishes in a taco; there's no doubt the team (and their taste buds!) are having fun.

The sharing-style approach further adds to the easy-going, flowing atmosphere: jovial, collective, and focused on sparking conversation.

The decision to have an open kitchen is not only a nod to their beginnings, but a chance to showcase the sheer skill of the chefs and the superior ingredients.

Quality is a huge focus

"Quality has always been a huge focus for us!" Chi says, "All of the beef baos are short-rib; they go through a twelve-hour cooking process. Everything goes through a loving, long process — because that's what we believe makes the meal good."

"We have so much passion for the concept", Chi continues. "It's really taken off in our other locations, so we're excited to welcome Eastbourne through our doors!"

There may be other fusion restaurants in the area, but this is the one that's going to be on everyone's lips and in everyone's bellies, so make sure you get in early.

Special offer

Chi would like to offer Bournefree readers a free drink until the 31st of March 2023!

Simply quote 'BourneFREE Drink' when you visit or when you make your reservation!

Sheppard's — East Dean's hidden gem

SHEPPARD'S Café and Restaurant in East Dean is proving a massive success — and it's about to get even better.

By Peter Lindsey

Mandy, Bea and their team have worked extremely hard over the past 20 months to make it a must-go place.

cookery has certainly been put to good use and will continue to do so this year and in to the future!"

The Wheatsheaf Inn – simply the best

THE Wheatsheaf Inn at Willingdon is proving more popular than ever and is now a true food destination pub.

Why is that? The answers are very simple, says owner Karen Clapton.

First, all the food is home cooked, and the Head Chef is dedicated to serving top quality meals using local produce.

By Peter Lindsey

Customers love it

Karen said: "We are a British gastro traditional venue, and our customers love it."

First class

Second, The Wheatsheaf sells 42 different wines as well as first class lager, ales, soft drinks, and coffee.

"There's none of your house wine here. We source our wine from local businesses including Chapel Down, Nyetimber and some beautiful international wines including Whispering Angel from Provence and a deep intense Italian Amarone."

We welcome walkers, and we are dog friendly too. Our beautiful inglenook fire is very popular as well.

A friendly welcome is guaranteed!

But for Karen, service is key.

She said: "I have a waitress team separate from our bar team because looking after our customers is everything.

"We offer and provide full table service."

The pub opens daily from noon until 11pm and can cater for special events and dinner parties.

Heated huts

Outside, there are heated huts with undercover seating in pods, and there is a large garden area.

The site opposite the main entrance to the pub will also be available for seating once the better weather comes.

Karen said: "We are in a great location so close to the South Downs, and I want to thank the local community who support us so well. I never take that support for granted and we work hard to make their experience so good they return time after time. And they do.

"We are now a food destination pub, which means we are getting more people joining from outside Eastbourne to eat and drink here, which is fantastic.

"We welcome walkers, and we are dog friendly too. Our beautiful inglenook fire is very popular as well."

Special national events

Karen is also proud that the pub goes big when it comes to special national events, including the late Queen's 70th anniversary celebrations in June 2022.

"You have never seen anything like it. Willingdon celebrated the anniversary like never before. Next up is the King's Coronation in May, and we can't wait."

Rossi's very best cooking secrets

THE recipe for success at Rossi's Italian and Mediterranean Restaurant at 39 Cornfield Eastbourne is simple.

By Peter Lindsey

Top Italian cuisine cooked by expert Head Chef Emiliano and perfect service to every customer with an attentive smile from Aneta at Front of House.

It's 12 months since the compact and attractive restaurant opened — and it's easy to see why it has become so popular.

Family recipes

Emiliano said: "Every item on the menu is prepared fresh and all the pastas and classic main dishes are homemade. This includes seafood, meat and vegetarian options.

"We change the menu every four months and I am proud to use family recipes, some my mother taught me when I was very young. I stole a few of her very best cooking secrets.

I serve what I know our customers will love once they taste it.

Only at Rossi's

"All the fish we serve is sourced locally and as Head Chef, I don't copy what other people cook. I serve what I know our customers will love once they taste it."

Have a butchers'

DITCH the supermarket for locally sourced, stunning ingredients. Fit for the finest dinner party or a simple midweek family supper, JCS Meats and Provisions is affordable luxury.

By Gail McKay

One of the greatest pleasure I have working on this magazine is finding out about unique businesses that might sometimes go under the radar and then letting our readers know about these hidden gems.

ICS is one such business. If you followed the recent Eastbourne business awards, you'll have seen that they won retailer of the year. And with good reason. It's a fantastic setup, fruit and veg outside on a market stall and inside, the meat counter and grocery shop. It's an asset to the local area.

Quality is paramount

John Clarke-Semmons, the owner has been running JCS Meats and Provisions in Eastbourne for the last eight years. John says, "Our mission statement has always been 'Quality of produce and service is paramount'."

Plastic free

They are the only fresh produce retailer in the area to be recognised as plastic free, due to their continued use and promotion of paper wrappings for their produce.

But this is no ordinary shop. Everything is locally sourced, everything is top quality, and everything is excellent value.

28 day dry hung sirloin

John showed me the 28 day dry hung sirloin. All good butchers have recipes for the meat they sell. John is also a trained chef. His tip with steak is to start with a glowing red hot pan. No oil. Put the room temperature steak in dry, when it's sealed, turn it over and season the sealed side. He says the salt draws out moisture. His favourite way to eat steak is with a tarragon, pepper and cream sauce with homemade chips.

Pevensey Blue

ICS Meats and Provisions are excellent at sourcing the best produce. "We often get Pevensey Blue, a local artisan blue cheese, which is gold dust. It's made in Hockham Farm, but isn't available for retail and there's no farm shop."

I was thrilled to hear this as it's one of my favourites. John posts on Facebook when it's in, so keep your eyes peeled. He also has the excellent, and very popular Sussex Charmer and the crowd pleasing Brighton Blue.

Boxes

They supply superb value meal boxes, veg boxes, stew boxes, meat boxes, all delivered free locally. The Bargain box has chicken, bacon, sausages, mince, cheese, and loads of fruit and vegetables for £35.

It's a gift for anyone living near him. And free easy parking for those that don't.

You can also pick up store cupboard staples like eggs, paracetamol, tinned tomatoes, pasta, for added convenience.

Their delivery service extends from Normans Bay to Saltdean, and they hope to expand further into Bexhill, St Leonards, and Hastings in the coming months.

The trade counter in Eastbourne is open to the public from Tuesday-Saturday.

Standout items

Amy is the very experienced chef. She started in fine dining aged just 16 and was trained to Michelin level.

Among the standout items on the menu are the scallops and pan-fried Bream. The charcuterie board and raclette are also dinners' favorites.

Most recently they did open a restaurant that gained a star after 18 months being opened. "We worked hard and that experience was very inspiring for us and showed us that we should always believe in our dreams in life, and it was their dream to gain a star and we are thankful for being a part of it."

Both know exactly what it takes to make a successful restaurant and wine bar in Eastbourne.

FEATURED ARTIST Eastbourne Studio Pottery

Eastbourne Studio Pottery is an open-access ceramic studio based in the heart of town. Set-up by Jennie Lathbury, Karen Peters and Claire Shoosmith in 2017, we offer a flexible membership scheme for independent potters plus day and evening classes for all levels of experience. We want everyone to benefit from exploring their creativity through clay and have developed long-standing partnerships with several local community groups offering bespoke workshops both on and off-site.

Our Saturday morning taster sessions are great fun and a fantastic way to start your journey with clay, over three and a half hours you are introduced to hand-building, using coloured slips and throwing on the wheel.

Clay is a brilliant medium for children, we encourage play and experimentation for pre-school age in our Friday morning Mud-larks; an opportunity to work alongside your children on our monthly Family workshops and in 2023 we'll be introducing an afterschool club on Tuesdays.

We are planning an exciting programme of full day workshops for the New Year focusing on special techniques with invited artists including Louisa Taylor, Elaine Bolt and Emma Carlow.

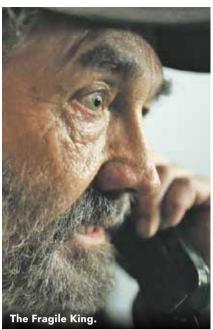

2023 is going to be an extra exciting year for the arts in Eastbourne with the Turner Prize at the Towner and many of our fellow creatives planning special events. We hope to host a series of 30 free ceramic workshops as part of the celebrations — more news as our funding bid progresses!

Could Eastbourne be the Cannes of the British Riviera?

DOMENICO Della Valle and Manfredi Mancuso, the founders of Crossing The Screen International Film Festival, have a dream: "We want to transform Eastbourne into the Cannes of the British Riviera!"

By Melita Cameron-Wood

This is no mean feat, but the festival, now in its seventh year, has survived numerous setbacks, including the Covid-19 pandemic and a chronic lack of funding.

"After the first edition of the festival in 2016, the main challenge was figuring out how to maintain the event. In the UK, and around the world, many film festivals have a lifespan of three years, after which they die out due to loss of momentum or funding. To keep a film festival going, there's the logistical aspect, but you also need that driving force — the belief that it's going to work."

This year's festival, which will be held at The Grove Theatre from 3rd to 5th March, bears testament to the pair's determination. Submissions from all over the world tell unique stories that dive deep into the human condition. One such example is Wade or Row, a short film by Rebecca van der Meulen that focuses on a young American woman's visit to a covert abortion clinic in a motel.

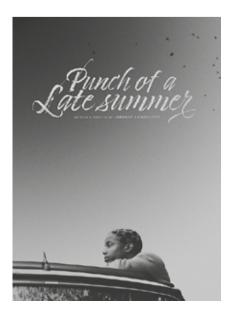

Another topical submission is Lorenzo Lanzillotti's Punch of a Late Summer, a feature film that explores the struggles of bipolarism against the backdrop of the Italian countryside. The Fragile King, a feature film by South African director Tristan Holmes tells a similarly moving tale of the bond that forms between a young boy and his grandfather after his mother dies in a tragic accident. And, The Father, The Son and The Ray Kalmenson, a light-hearted yet thought-provoking short film by French director Dayan D. Oualid, examines the dichotomy between the playfulness of childhood and the expectations of the protagonist Yoel's local Orthodox Jewish community rabbi.

The work of local filmmakers, such as Seb Cox's first-time feature film Are We Monsters, will also be screened at the festival, taking the audience on a journey into the realm of the supernatural through the lens of a werewolf undergoing an identity crisis.

The varied selection of films demonstrates Della Valle and Mancuso's talent for the curation of a timely and insightful programme. "Crossing the Screen is an independent festival, so we don't have to comply with rules or make compromises," Della Valle comments. "We have freedom of action, and that's a good thing!"

Green Light Music Festival

WHAT is it? You keep hearing about it, BUT WHAT IS IT?

By Caine Hemmingway, EMC

Well. Sit back, and let me tell you.

Green Light Music Festival is a three day music festival in Eastbourne. 23rd—25th of February. We have ticketed events at The Town Hall and free gigs at The Dew Drop, The Eagle, Printers Playhouse and The Vinyl Frontier. Eastbourne will have a beating heart of live music.

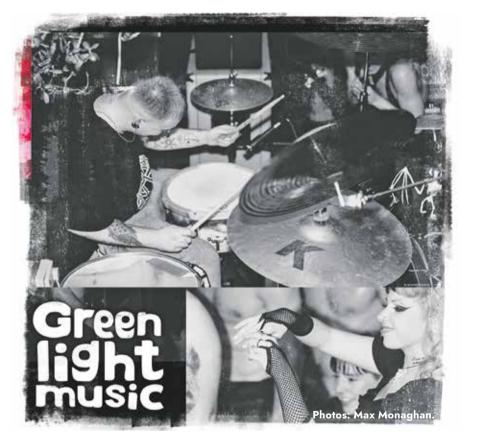

Supernova

The Town Hall events kick off with a supernova on the 23rd, the best of original Eastbourne bands, a celebration of talent. We have Torrid Horror headlining, Knocksville, The Veltmans and Stan-H supporting. These bands have carved names for themselves, already packing out venues in Brighton, London and across Europe. It's time to give them a platform at home.

Platform to express

On the 24th we have a Create Music and East Sussex College Showcase. On the 25th, to close the festival, we have the Rebellious Ensemble performing original orchestral compositions. All in the grand Town Hall.

Alongside the town hall events we have around 30 local bands and artists, all being given the platform to express their passion, their art. You can come and see bands like Black Groove, Street Grease, We Are None, Ava, Grace and Danger, for free across some amazing local venues.

Green Light Music Festival isn't the catalyst, it's the celebration of a diverse and growing music scene we have here in Eastbourne. Come and see what Eastbourne has had hidden away.

Printers Playhouse nominated for national award

JOHN and Viv Berry — Co-Directors of the Printers Playhouse in Grove Road — have been recognised by the Writers Guild of Great Britain, for their unique approach to the arts and theatre in particular.

By Peter Lindsey

The awards are in honour of playwright Olwen Wymark, a lifelong supporter of WGGB and a former Theatre Committee Chair, who died in 2013.

John and Viv were nominated by one of their tutors Alan Spence, a Writers Guild member and serves on the Theatre Committee.

A wonderful award

David James, a former Chair of the WGGB Theatre Committee, who organises the event, said: "This is a wonderful award, warmly appreciated by both the winners and the nominators: the chance to say thank you. It has also helped many of the winners to receive meaningful recognition from outside funders."

Heart of the community

In his citation, Alan said "I know it is early days, but in all my experiences, I have never been so warmly welcomed, allowed to follow my dreams, with John and Viv finding ways to make things happen, rather than saying no. That sense of being accepted, supported and yet, with a degree of independence.

John and Viv's approach since 2015, is all about new challenges working with new people, surviving the last two years to keep on doing what they believe in; an Eastbourne Arts hub that offers a safe space for local artists and musicians to share, collaborate, learn and develop new skills. Placing theatre at the centre of an arts culture, and at the heart of the Eastbourne community."

Green and pleasant

THE National Garden Scheme's annual Snowdrop Festival is upon us once again! On a winter's day, there is nothing better than visiting a garden gleaming with one of the earliest flowering plants of the year. Whether you enjoy carpets of naturalised white in woodlands, meticulously grown rare varieties of snowdrops or gardens boasting a colourful mix of snowdrops, hellebores and other early spring flowers — readers will find there is something for galanthophiles and garden enthusiasts alike. Now is the time to plan your visit.

By Geoff Stonebanks

We all probably ate more than we should over the festive period, so this might be the perfect way to get out and exercise in the fresh air and enjoy the beautiful, faithful, first signs of spring, epitomised by drifts of glorious snowdrops. They are indeed a reminder of the changing seasons and the promise of what's to come.

Snowdrop Festival

Snowdrops can be viewed in over 100 National Garden Scheme gardens throughout England, Wales and Northern Ireland during February, and March. Here in Sussex, we have about ten gardens for you to see these beautiful flowers, notably Pembury

The scheme recently published some fun facts about this delicate little flower, here are a few to whet your appetite. It's Greek name – 'Galanthus' translates as 'milk flower' but could you have possibly imagined that a single Galanthus plicatus 'Golden Fleece' sold for £1,390 on eBay back in 2015?

Snowdrops are tough little plants, adapted to pierce through snow and survive the cold. The tips of their leaves are especially hardened for breaking through frozen ground and their sap contains a form of antifreeze that prevents ice crystals from forming. A naturally occurring substance within the plant, called galantamine, is used to help treat the symptoms of Alzheimer's disease, although the bulbs themselves are poisonous.

There are more than 2,500 varieties and they are symbolic of spring, purity and religion. Collecting snowdrop bulbs in the wild is illegal in many countries. For many, you need a license to sell them, as they're covered by CITES regulations — the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Flora and Fauna. It's illegal to transfer them over borders, without a CITES permit too.

The snowdrop isn't a UK native. They became fashionable in the Victorian era but, due to it being known under several different names, no one knows for sure when they were first introduced to the UK. The first records of plants in the wild date from 1778 — but botanist John Gerard is said to have described the snowdrop in his writings from 1597.

So, now you know, why not plan your visit to a National Garden Scheme garden as part of their Snowdrop Festival, wellies and warm clothes will definitely fit the bill. All the details on how to visit, prices and other information can be found on the Scheme's website at www.ngs.org.uk Do note that many will require prebooking online, including the two that I mentioned above.

Back at Driftwood

Meanwhile, back in my garden, the coming month will be a time for tidying up and making preparations, ready to open later in the year. For the last few years, it has been the month when I get people in to tidy up the boundaries. I have tall hedges and greenery on all sides of the back garden and it is just too much now for me to climb ladders and keep it all in trim. The team can get it all done in a day and it is now very satisfying being able to watch others get on with it from the warmth and safety of my office desk in the roof. I have steep banks at the front and side of the drive which also get trimmed at the same time.

Openings this year will get off to an early start with a small tour group from the USA who booked their visit on the 27th May way back last September. So, between now and then, I'll be trying to make it look a little different. I've had a clear out of my many terracotta containers and cleaned some up ready to use again around my plot. I'm fortunate in having a great storage area for them at the top of the garden. Containers are a great way to change the look of the garden, repositioning them each summer in different locations.

My garden has always been made up of many small components, be they sculptural pieces to be relocated around the plot, creating a different feel, or new ideas or themes to change a corner or vista across the garden. There will be plenty of new ideas on show again this summer.
